CHALLENGE

As businesses seek to optimize, innovate and gain greater value from their IT investments, they wrestle to align their organization's direction while managing their complex and interrelated technology portfolios. This need is never more pressing than today, as organizations seek to do more with less, and try to rationalize their investments to still meet the demands of their business. As organizations seek to transform their thinking, they are left wondering where to start.

OUR SOLUTION

At Sierra Systems, we understand that the key to any successful change is the need for a clear understanding of what you are going to achieve and why this is important to you. Once defined, a solid and achievable roadmap with supporting governance is required to help you get there.

Our information management and information technology (IM/IT) services help senior management and executives in envisioning and achieving an IT-enabled future to meet their business objectives.

OUR SERVICES

From strategy and architecture through implementation to managed support, Sierra Systems provides end-to-end management for an organization's technology solutions. It begins with a strategic vision-to-plan engagement, and is grounded in best practice to set our clients up for success.

A strategy engagement is never undertaken in isolation; it is always the first step in a journey towards a new reality that is defined in the process.

The framework is based on four phases to provide your organization with a well-defined strategy, tailored to your particular concerns, with a clear roadmap to move you in your desired direction. The framework has been proven to work across a broad spectrum of strategy initiatives including organizational IM/IT strategies, cloud, business intelligence and data analytics, ECM and ERP initiatives, and can be scaled to meet an organization's unique needs.

- Phase 1 – Initiate: The driver for a strategy is often obvious but what the output needs to be can vary significantly depending on the area to be addressed and the needs of the organization. In the initiate phase, we ensure that your expectations for the strategy and final deliverable are understood as well as the level of analysis to be carried out.
- Phase 2 – Discover: We review the current state of the organization relating to the area the strategy is to be defined for. An assessment is carried out, which may include a combination of documentation review, surveys, interviews and focus groups. At the end of the assessment Sierra Systems present 'what we heard' to you. This ensures that our understanding of the organization we develop is accurate and familiar to you.
- Phase 3 – Develop: Through one or more future state workshops, we facilitate you in defining a clear vision, provide best practice education and work with you to define a practical and measurable roadmap and action plan.
- Phase 4 – Deliver: To cement the results of the workshops, we develop a comprehensive deliverable that you can use as a basis for launching the necessary initiatives to achieve your shared vision.
