

Cloud Drives Business Transformation

The Future of Work is Changing

The transformative nature of Cloud is significant and very real given that we live in a tech savvy workforce of Millennials and Gen Z's that expect to communicate through different channels than past generations. At Sierra Systems, an NTT DATA Company, we understand how Oracle Cloud solutions transform your business and provide you with a competitive advantage through higher performance at lower cost. Oracle Cloud accelerates strategic innovation across your organization so that you evolve into a connected, intelligent business while simplifying business processes. The challenge you face is preparing your business to take advantage of these new solutions with feature rich business processes. Upfront preparedness is the key to successfully harnessing these game-changing solutions. Cloud improves the user experience and usability with more mobile and social capabilities than we've ever had in the past enabling your workforce to be more productive.

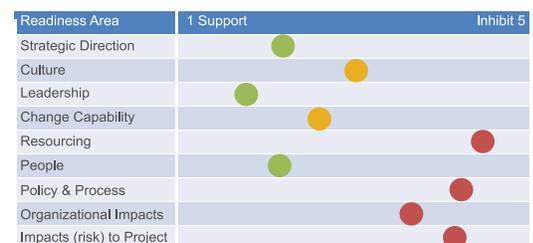

Sierra Systems' Framework for Cloud Success

Our Oracle Cloud Transformation program

Our Oracle Cloud Transformation Program explores the business impacts of Cloud to determine the magnitude of your transformation journey including the ability to embrace concepts such as continuous innovation and your organizations ability to shift the thinking to innovation and differentiation versus customization. We leverage tools such as our Business Readiness Scorecard and Sierra's Maturity Assessment Tool to develop a fact-based business transformation plan designed for Cloud success to proactively move you along the maturity spectrum.

Our Business Readiness Scorecard

A scorecard measures your organization's readiness to embrace the People, Process and Technology changes associated with Cloud. We baseline this early and update it throughout the preparedness and deployment phases to establish the current pulse of your organization's ability to accept changes as a result of the new Cloud application. This is led by the business and the resulting information influences the go-no-go decision for implementation timing.

Our Cloud Maturity Assessment Tool

Sierra Systems has developed a tool that enables us to evaluate your cloud capability maturity. We capture information in a questionnaire format and then assimilate the results into a summary map. This map illustrates your current level of capability to adopt Cloud, on a scale of 1-to-4, along with a desired target. These various levels reflect a best practices spectrum of readiness maturity. The difference of where you are today versus where you would like to be determines the magnitude of transformation and organizational impact across the business and IT to be addressed.

Our Cloud Transformation services provide you with the information needed to define a transformation plan that is specific to your organizations' needs. This plan is critical to help mitigate risk and maximizes the success of your Cloud initiatives.

Additional Services Include

- Executive education on the transformative journey to cloud
- IT transformation and sustainment toolkits
- Governance framework(s) for transparency and agile decision making
